Extreme Heat, Health and Resilience Summit ...and we don't mean chile April 23, 2025

New Mexico faces an unprecedented public health crisis as extreme heat is projected to break temperature records again this summer. Healthy Climate New Mexico is excited to host this virtual Summit to ensure that health professionals understand the health impacts of extreme heat and are prepared to take action to address this threat in their communities. The Summit will increase knowledge about the worsening health impacts of heat, including data, trends, and risks. Participants will learn about how to reduce the harms associated with extreme heat so they can help reduce the risks of heat to their community, home, or workplace, especially for our most vulnerable populations.

We hope you will help support this effort and join us as a sponsor!
